

TEOCO HOSTS FIFTH ANNUAL USER GROUP FORUM

FAIRFAX, Va.--Sept. 26, 2005—TEOCO Corporation, the premier provider of network cost and revenue management solutions to the telecommunications industry, held its fifth annual telecom solutions User Group Forum on September 20-21, 2005. This year's event was held at the exclusive Tower Club in Vienna, Virginia.

The two-day Forum provided a venue for TEOCO to bring together its carrier customers, which include six of the eight largest U.S. communication providers. TEOCO hosted approximately forty service provider representatives from nearly twenty companies throughout North America.

“We believe bringing our customers together for face-to-face networking and knowledge sharing offers significant value,” said John Devolites, VP and General Manager of TEOCO's Telecom Solutions group. “The Forum provides an opportunity for us to convey our insights on industry trends and TEOCO innovations, while gaining understanding from our customers to help us better align our solution set with their evolving needs.”

The Forum featured two high-profile speakers. U.S. Congressman Tom Davis of Virginia discussed telecom-related issues that the U.S. Congress will address in the coming year. Tudor Aw, a Managing Director of KPMG America's Communications practice spoke on Sarbanes-Oxley compliance trends.
